We live in a very dangerous world

The 2nd American civil war has begun. The left is supporting violence from Antifa and BLM, regardless of the consequences. We are one mere trigger-pull from this becoming a shooting war.

Ben Domenech is publisher of the Federalist, and a man of well-considered thought. Recently, he hosted a Fox News show for a week, and he shared some thoughts on what we – every day, normal Americans – can do to contribute to saving our country. There were four simple (but not easy) steps we can take:

1. Seek out others to fight, simply by not accepting the left's frame of the nature of our country or of your life. The key is to band together. With Family. With neighbors. For in numbers lives power.
2. Rearrange your finances to fund competing institutions to those the left has corrupted. Your editor no longer buys Coke or Gillette products. Nor will he fly Delta. And tell your friends. Ben and Jerry's is not the only company that makes ice cream.
3. Put your kids in schools that reflect your deepest values. Schools are the most important battleground in this war. And make no mistake. This is a war.
4. Vote. And not just in federal elections. The primary elections are critical. Understand which politicians will stand for your America. There are plenty of Republicans who may as well be Democrats. When the primaries come, do your duty as a citizen, and elect those who will do what you want. And lastly, local and state level elections are critical. We MUST own state legislatures and governorships. The states are our buffer against the worst excesses of the federal government.

However, do not think that this is a uniquely American problem. What is happening here is being replayed over and over in the Western Allies. France is a case in point. An open letter to the country's political leaders was written and signed by 20 former French generals, 100 officers and over 1,000 other military personnel.

This letter warns of the dangers of Critical Race Theory, and of an imminent, full-blown shooting civil war. The French Military warns that they will not stand idly by as the country falls into chaos. How I wish the American military felt the same way. Sadly, they do not. Rather, they are themselves enveloped by CRT.

Portugal, Italy, Greece and Spain, involved in economic chaos of their own making, are ripe as targets for destructive Marxist ideology.

“Corporate nationalism to me is a little bit like what would have happened if Hitler had won. It’s scary stuff. It’s totalitarianism in a different form, a different flavour.”

And, while the world looks again to the US for strength and leadership, this is the message we are sending to them. It is not insignificant that the flags for transgender and gay pride are given positional equivalence to the Stars and Strips. Unlike the French military, when (not if) our troubles turn violent, there is a question where our own military will stand.

Yes, I know there are those officers who disagree, but CRT is now being taught at our military academies, and the most senior military posts are now held by officers politically subservient to the left.

A little Humor

Brad was unhappy with life, so he pulled his car into the garage. He sealed every entry, got in the car and started it. Tuning his favorite station on the radio, he sat back and waited.

Two days later a worried neighbor peeked into the garage and saw Brad. She called the police, who came and broke into the garage. Pulling Brad out of the car, they were surprised to find him alive and well. But his Tesla battery was dead.

Brad is a registered Democrat.

Totalitarianism: Of, relating to, being, or imposing a form of government in which the political authority exercises absolute and centralized control over everything. The individual is subordinated to the state, and opposing political and cultural expression is suppressed.

Larry Arnn, President of Hillsdale, talks about Totalitarianism in a recent issue of Iprimis.

So, what in the world is going on? The western societies, especially in the US, have made really remarkable progress in race relations. Were we perfect? Certainly not. Can any society be perfect? Hasn't happened yet, but that should not stop us from trying to achieve perfection. No, CRT is not really about race. The 1619 Project is about neither race nor history. And the Green New Deal is not about the climate.

“The interesting thing about the Green New Deal is it wasn't originally a climate thing at all,” Saikat Chakrabarti said in May, according to The Washington Post. Saikat is a top advisor to Ocasio-Cortez. “Do you guys think of it as a climate thing? Because we really think of it as a how-do-you-change-the-entire-economy thing.”

No, the GND, 1619 and CRT are merely fronts. They and their supporters are being used by Globalists to achieve their own goals. The globalists include the world's wealthiest families, lead by George Soros. Please read the above link on Globalism, as it will explain exactly what these people are trying to accomplish. Families of immense wealth, who run some of the world's most powerful companies, are Globalists. Their goal is a world in which governments, as we know them, have no power over the wealthy. These people, and their companies, want to be able to create their own rules. When and if they do, “We The People” of the world will have no power, and no authority, no way to better our lives than to hope the mega corporations are generous. There will be no place to run, no “Shining City on the Hill”. There will be no free and fair elections, because there will be no elections.

This is a very, very bleak perspective. But it has been coming for a very long time. Why do you think America's super wealthy are pushing the Democratic party line? It is to destroy the last, best hope of mankind.

Today's final word is from Rush Limbaugh:

“A United States collapse would be much different than a Greece collapse. Greece can collapse, and there's a ripple. We collapse, and the world feels it.”
